

Continue Dollar Day Uptown Thursday

Merchants Decide to Extend Sale of Bargains to Thursday, Due to Inclement Weather—Shoppers Turned Out in Large Numbers Today and Indications Point to a Record Amount of Sales.

A downpour of rain early in the morning followed by heavy clouds which threatened at any moment to cause a deluge did not prevent the early shoppers from turning out to participate in Kingston's Dollar Day today. During the night rain fell and it was not until after 8 o'clock this morning that the rain stopped but when the stores opened at 9 o'clock the streets were well filled with shoppers who came early to secure a first choice.

The sale will be continued Thursday to enable any shopper, who might not have turned out because of the inclement weather to purchase the same bargains as were offered today.

Knowing that "Kingston stores are better" and "Kingston prices are lower" the shrewd shopper was out early to secure first choice and to be sure that had weather later in the day would not prevent him or her from securing a portion of the bargains offered for the dollar. In many places where merchandise of higher price was sold there were special inducements for the Dollar Day sale. Some stores dealing in small items grouped items together and sold at a dollar. Other stores selling higher priced merchandise discounted a dollar on a stated amount or gave a flat reduction of 10 percent on regular prices.

Everywhere were inducements which warranted the shopper's attention. Undoubtedly many people referred their trip to Kingston's Dollar Day Sale on account of the weather but many paid little attention to the weather and came in spite of threatened rain.

Trolley cars, busses and trains brought their share of customers and private conveyances produced their quota. Business throughout the day continued brisk evidencing the fact that people know real bargains when they see them and that the merchants know how to offer real bargains to the public.

Large crowds gathered at certain stores where for a certain time special offerings were made or where limited quantities of a certain kind of merchandise were being offered.

Prompt, courteous treatment and service consistent with the volume of business done was evidenced in the stores, many of which had engaged additional help for the day.

WINN ON RUSH FOR JOB

Fred H. Meyer, aged 18, of 236 East Fifth street, New York city, former Kingstonian, who resided at 45 Lincoln street and attended the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran School here, was the victor in a rush for a $16 a week office boy's job on March 6.

Meyer was the first of the army of job seekers to appear at the Rome Press Bureau in the early morning of March 6 in answer to an advertisement in the New York World. When workers of the bureau arrived about 8 o'clock people had to be called to persuade the applicants to disperse. In their eagerness to get into the bureau, windows were pushed out and the office of the firm was put in general confusion. Applicants for the job kept visiting the bureau until the late afternoon of the day.

Millinery Firm Retiring from Business Here

O'Reilly & Beach Retire After Forty-one Years—Building Leased by Joseph Jacobson for Hotel and Restaurant—Takes Possession April 1.

Another business change downtown that takes place the first of April is the retiring from the millinery business of the firm of O'Reilly & Beach and the leasing of the building at Broadway and East Union street to Joseph Jacobson, who, after alterations are made will open it as a first class hotel and restaurant.

The millinery business was established forty-one years ago by the late Mrs. Patrick O'Reilly, and has been since carried on by Miss Margaret D. O'Reilly and Mrs. Anna M. Beach under the firm name of O'Reilly & Beach. Their plans for the future have not been fully decided upon as yet.

Mr. Jacobson who has leased the entire building is now engaged in the restaurant business on lower Broadway. He plans to make a number of extensive alterations and improvements to the O'Reilly building, and will conduct it as a first class restaurant and hotel. The lease also includes the large garage in the rear of the building.

During the many years that Miss O'Reilly and Mrs. Beach have been engaged in the millinery business downtown they have become widely and favorably known.

Risley in Ill Health Kills Self

Prominent Resident of Woodstock, Proprietor of Risley Farms Boarding House, Takes Own Life With Shotgun.

Cornelius N. Risley, prominent resident of Woodstock and proprietor of the Risley Farms boarding house, committed suicide early Tuesday evening by shooting himself through the heart with a shotgun. He had been in ill health for some time but members of the family and friends did not suspect that he had any intention of violent death.

The body was discovered about 6:30 o'clock in an apartment at the rear of the house. This apartment was used as a sort office and sleeping quarters by Mr. Risley, during the summer season. When discovered the body was still warm and the act had evidently been committed but a short time previous to the discovery of the body by members of the family.

Coroner W. N. Canner of this city was notified and Dr. M. B. Downer of Woodstock. After an investigation by the doctor and coroner the verdict of Coroner Canner was given out as suicide by gunshot wound.

Mr. Risley, who had been about town Tuesday had evidently gone home to the rooms in the rear of the house and lying down on a couch placed the muzzle of the shotgun against his chest and pulled the trigger. The shots went through the heart and death was immediate. The body was turned over to Undertaker Victor N. Lasher of Woodstock.

Mr. Risley was 58 years old, a son of Aaron and Anna Neher. Risley, the boarding house located at the junction of the West Hurley road and the Saugerties-Woodstock highway was established many years ago by Aaron Risley and at his death continued by Cornelius N. Risley. The house had a wide reputation as a summer boarding house and its spacious lawns and peaceful surroundings attracted many summer vacationists each year.

Mr. Risley is survived by his wife and a number of grown children. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Bradley and Mrs. Victor N. Lasher, both of Woodstock, and one grandson, Robert Bradley. Funeral and interment will be private. Those who wish to view the remains may do so at his late home on Thursday evening between 7 and 9 o'clock. The deceased was a member of Kingston Lodge of Elks, No. 559.

Ambulance Calls Tuesday

The city ambulance made two calls here on Tuesday. Mrs. Joseph Fox was removed from the City of Kingston Hospital to 143 Spring street, and Betty Reside from 608 Broadway to the City of Kingston Hospital.

Coe Suggests Sale During Firemen's Convention Here

Chamber of Commerce Secretary Calls for Gigantic Sale by Local Merchants—Firemen Will Ask City to Purchase New Flags—Other Matters Taken Up.

At a meeting of the local committee of the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association held in the Municipal Building Tuesday night Secretary Louis S. Coe of the Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the decoration committee suggested that the merchants of Kingston join in conducting a gigantic sale here during the convention. The suggestion will likely be acted upon at the next meetings of the Downtown, Central and Uptown Business Men's Associations.

The army has been secured in which to tender a dinner to the delegates to the Hudson Valley Firemen's Convention on June 20, the day preceding the parade. L. E. Dunn, chairman of the outgoing committee, obtained permission from Major O. R. Hiltbrant to use the armory for which the firemen are very grateful. The large drill shed will also be used on the day of the parade, June 21, to store apparatus, by Chief Joseph L. Murphy, chairman of the parade committee.

The firemen will ask the city to purchase new flags to be placed on the poles along Broadway. It was considered a good way to decorate the main thoroughfare and the committee in charge believe the suggestion will meet with favorable action. As many of the holders formerly on the poles along Broadway have been removed new ones will be necessary to place the flags in. Plans will be made in the near future concerning the decorating of buildings. Action is now being taken to have a local man who is decorating but it is not known whether or not the Kingston concern will be able to handle the job. It is the plan of the decorating committee to have Kingston present a most attractive aspect during the convention days.

The officers of the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association will meet with the members of the local committee to discuss plans for the convention on Saturday, May 12. It was considered by the local committee that this date would be the most convenient because plans for the convention will be well underway by that time.

Delegates Appointed.

President Edward F. Moran of the local committee requested that all fire companies at their April meetings take up the appointing of delegates for the reception committee. There will be five delegates from each hose company in the city. At the Tuesday night meeting only two companies had lists in the hands of the secretary, Jacob C. Port, naming members of the committee. The Rapid Hose Company appointed Walter Albright, Walter Kirchner, J. Pardee, Dave Harris and Thomas Smith as its representatives for the reception committee. The Rescue Hook and Ladder Company will be represented by Joseph Coughlin, Richard Terpening, Daniel McGraw, Peter McGowan and Michael Graney.

The badges to be worn by the firemen during the convention, of which 1,000 will be ordered, will probably be ready when the next meeting of the local committee meets on Tuesday, April 10. L. Henry is chairman of the committee to procure the badges and reported progress made at Tuesday night's meeting.

Twelve More Companies Coming.

Communications have been received from twelve companies stating that they will be here to participate in the parade. In addition to the six announced previously Washington Hose Company of Hudson will be here with forty men and a thirty-five piece band. The band won first prize at the Elks' convention in Troy. Washington Heights Engine Company of Newburgh will be in line with a goodly number of men. The Red Hook Fire Company will send fifty men here accompanied by a drum corps of twenty-seven pieces. Walkhill Engine Company, No. 6, of Middletown, will join in the parade with a life and drum corps to head the men. The company will also bring to Kingston the 1,000-gallon pumper. The Protection Hose Company of Huntington, N. Y., will come to Kingston. Marlborough Hose Company, No. 1, expects to make a big hit during the convention and will have fifty uniformed men in line in addition to its big American-La France truck. The firemen of this section of Ulster county have been preparing for some time for the convention and anticipate taking a place in one of the heading divisions.

Several committees were unable to report at the meeting. It is expected they will have plans made when the next meeting is held on Tuesday, April 10.

MILWAUKEE MAYOR POLLS THE MOST VOTES

Milwaukee, March 14 (AP).—Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, Socialist, who has served as Milwaukee's chief executive for the last 12 years, polled 13,000 more votes in yesterday's primary than Sheriff Charles Schallitz, nominated to oppose him at the election April 2. The third candidate for mayor, Edward Schubert, was eliminated.

Sheriff Schallitz carried only three of the 25 wards. He received 23,427 votes to the 41,391 polled by Mayor Hoan. Schubert received 7,391.

Population of United States Is Now 120,013,000

According to Provisional Estimate by Census Bureau as of July 1, 1928—Increase of 14 Per Cent Over Actual Count on January 1, 1920.

Washington, March 14 (AP).—A provisional estimate by the census bureau today placed the population of the United States as of July 1, 1928, at 120,013,000, an increase of 14 percent over the 105,710,670 actual count on January 1, 1920. The next federal census will not be taken before 1930.

The new total was arrived at by estimating the increase since 1920 on the basis of the best available returns on births, deaths, immigration and emigration.

The bureau also apportioned the increase on this basis for the 48 states and the District of Columbia.

Florida, where the population was estimated to have increased about 48 percent between 1920 and 1928, showed the greatest gain, although a 35 percent increase was indicated for California and nearly 30 percent gain for Michigan.

The following table shows the actual census of 1920 by states and their estimated population for July 1, 1928, the estimates being made by distributing the total increase of the United States.

Upon the basis of the increase by states from 1910 to 1920, or where there has been a state census, from 1920 to 1925, except that where there was a decrease between 1910 and 1920 or between 1920 and 1925, the 1920 or 1925 census figure is retained and no estimate is made.

MORE MONEY FOR COUNTY FAIRS UNDER NEW LAW

Governor Smith Tuesday signed the Witter-Kirkland bill, increasing the state's annual appropriation for the support of county fairs from $250,000 to $375,000. The maximum yearly allowance to agricultural societies is raised from $4,000 to $6,000.

The bill also turns over to state troopers responsibility for policing midway amusements and county fairs, and enforcing the regulations prohibiting the operation of gambling devices and immoral shows or exhibitions.

Apportionments to the various town and county agricultural societies will be based on the amount of money paid for premiums, exclusive of those for horse racing and other contests.

BENNETT AND COMPANIONS OFF FOR ST. ALBANS

Ticonderoga, N. Y., March 14 (AP).—Floyd Bennett and his five flying companions took off for St. Albans, Vt., at 10:35 a. m. today in the Bellanca monoplane which Commander Byrd plans to use in his expedition to the South Pole.

The big plane, which was equipped with skis here yesterday, circled over this village, took a short flight over the northern end of Lake George, and then headed for the north in the direction of St. Albans. Bennett said before leaving that if ice and snow conditions at St. Albans were not favorable for testing the skis, he would proceed to Lake Placid.

No Word from Hinchcliffe Plane Over Atlantic

Aviators Still Believe There Is Plenty of Hope, Computing Weather Conditions Might Have Slowed Progress—Fog Reported Between Newfoundland and New York.

New York, March 14 (AP).—Public concern manifested itself today as the hours passed without word from the black and gold monoplane Endeavour, which took the air in England yesterday to try the uncrossed western air passage of the Atlantic, but aviators still believed at noon that there was plenty of hope.

Although freely acknowledging that the absence of any report of the plane was disheartening, they computed that weather conditions might have so slowed progress that the plane would not reach land until early afternoon. And after sighting land it would be possible for the plane to continue without being sighted if it were flying anywhere near its ceiling of 14,000 feet.

The Endeavour, piloted by Captain Walter Hinchcliffe and believed to have on board the Hon. Elsie Mackay, sponsor of the flight, had enough fuel to last until about seven o'clock tonight.

If the plane's cruising speed of 105 miles an hour had been maintained the Endeavour would have arrived at Newfoundland between 4 and 6 o'clock this morning and New York, if it had been decided to come to New York, between five and six this afternoon. But if weather conditions held the speed down to 80 miles, which is about as low as it could operate efficiently, it would not have sighted Newfoundland until 9 a. m.

Fog was reported between Newfoundland and New York and it was believed possible that the flight might be made without anyone below sighting the plane. But despite all the reasons for not worrying put forward by experts, the public showed increasing concern and newspaper offices received constant telephone calls to learn if anything had been heard of the Endeavour.

Since the Endeavour took off at 3:40 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) yesterday no positive word of her was received. In Ireland a plane was seen flying westward but it was not identified as Hinchcliffe's. Off the Irish coast, a steamer saw a plane but it was not identified.

LINDBERGH OFF AGAIN IN DIRECTION OF WASHINGTON

Coatesville, Pa., March 14 (AP).—Colonel Charles Lindbergh, who was forced down on a farm near here yesterday by fog, hopped off for an unannounced destination at 10:30 a. m. today.

The plane disappeared to the southeast in the general direction of Washington where Lindbergh was bound yesterday from New York when he ran into the fog. He was accompanied by Henry Breckenridge.

The "Lone Eagle" and his passenger spent the night at a nearby farm house while a volunteer force of farmers guarded the plane.

Verdict of $2,000 For Kennell in Alienation Suit

Had Sued for $30,000 Alleging Mr. and Mrs. Rider Had Alienated the Affections of His Wife and Caused Her to Leave Him.

After being out from noon time until 7:10 o'clock Tuesday evening, the jury which heard the evidence in the alienation of affections action brought in supreme court by Henry Kennell against George W. Rider and wife of Saugerties reached an agreement. The jurors after agreeing in compliance with the order of the court prepared a sealed verdict and disbanded until 10 o'clock this morning when court reconvened.

A verdict in the sum of $2,000 for the plaintiff, Henry Kennell, was handed up. He sued for $30,000, alleging that Mr. and Mrs. Rider had alienated the affections of his wife, who is their daughter, and caused her to leave him.

When the verdict was recorded Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., who with Grant M. Brinnier and Roscoe Elsworth appeared for the defendant, asked that the jury be polled. He also moved to set aside the verdict under the provisions of the Civil Practice Act, and also on the exceptions and as against the weight of evidence. Denied. The usual 30 days stay was granted and 30 additional days to perfect an appeal if an appeal is taken.

Lloyd R. LeFever and A. J. Cook appeared for Kennell.

Following the verdict in the Kennell-Rider case the negligence action brought by Mrs. Charles Keefe against Edward T. McGill for injuries sustained in a collision between automobiles was continued. The evidence was closed and the case summed up and submitted to the jury before noon. Thomas F. Coughlin and Harry E. Schirck appeared for plaintiff and A. J. Cook for defendant.

Teapot Dome Will Move to Chicago

Thursday in Its Quest for the Continental Trading Company's Liberty Bonds—Stewart Enroute to Washington.

Washington, March 14 (AP).—After a tame session today, the Senate Teapot Dome committee turned its quest for the Continental Trading Company's Liberty Bonds toward Chicago, where its next meeting will be held tomorrow.

A. V. Leonard, secretary to the late Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, today's lone witness, testified that he knew nothing of Sinclair Liberty Bonds sent to Upham by Will H. Hays, chairman of the committee during the Harding campaign.

A second witness expected today failed to show up. The committee had issued a subpoena for "Montgomery Clothier" of Philadelphia, but it developed that there was no such person in Philadelphia.

It was announced today that Senator Bratton, Democrat, New Mexico, would be unable to accompany Chairman Nye to Chicago. Senator Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, will go in his place.

While Nye and Norbeck are journeying toward Chicago, Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, will be enroute to Washington to be arraigned tomorrow on charges growing out of his refusal to answer questions of the oil committee regarding the Continental bonds.

Stewart's arraignment had been set for Friday, but was advanced today at his request.

PUBLIC WILL NOT WITNESS QUEBEC EXECUTIONS.

Quebec, March 14 (AP).—Judicial executions in the province of Quebec will no longer be witnessed by newspapermen or any of the public, the provincial government announced today.

Only the sheriff and a physician will witness the hangings, the completion of which will not be announced until a jury sees evidence after the executions that the law has been observed. The plan follows procedure observed in England.

The decision was made in view of the interest shown in the execution scheduled for March 23 of Doris and George C. McDonald at Valley Field for the murder of a taxi driver. Hundreds of applications for admission to the hangings have been received by officials.

Newhall, Cal., March 14 (AP).—A list of bodies recovered in various towns in the San Francisco flood area, posted at the sheriff's substation here this morning, showed a total of 482.

An exact check could not be made owing to chaotic conditions in the stricken region. Duplications probably had occurred in some places while omissions were possible in others.

Governor Young pushed to the stricken area from San Diego, and at Santa Paula, where 500 homes were swept away with an undetermined loss of life, announced the launching today of an official investigation.

Approximately 400 houses in the 16 mile gorge of San Francisco Canyon were torn to bits, thrown and tossed along the 65 mile turmoil to the sea. Not a standing timber was left as a marker to indicate the site of prosperous little farms that dotted the valley. Three hundred more homes at Santa Paula went the same way. Thirty to forty houses were smashed at Fillmore, and fifteen at Piru, nine miles south of there on the Santa Clara river.

As the torrent receded, mountainous blocks of concrete from the dam were discovered half a mile or more from the dam site. It was under-takers, not doctors, as one Red Cross worker put it, that were needed. Those caught in the maelstrom of muddy waters either escaped unscathed or were killed. He said most of the victims did not drown; they were crushed by boulders and hurled tumblers from their own homes.

Tales of Bravery.

Tales of heroes uncounted, of bravery in which men lost their own lives to warn and save others; of grim stoicism when virtually every member of some families were counted among the missing, were revealed. Ed Locke, a guard of the Southern California Edison Company at Blue Bend, saved the lives of at least 47 men in camp—and himself died with his boots on and gun belted to his waist. Survivors told of his running up and down the row of tents "without a thought of his own skin." He was found where he fell after warning his fellowmen of the oncoming peril.

The improvised morgues, where the dead were gathered at central points, brought around their doors dry eyed, saddened clusters of women. Rows of them sat before the bodies of those who had been torn from them, mothers with groups of children huddled close, looking in vain for fathers or brothers who were buried in the debris.

Myths Cling to Snakes and Toads

New York Mar. 14 (P).—Toads and snakes are slandered more frequently than any other creatures in the lower zoological scale, says Dr. G. Kingsley Noble, curator of reptiles and amphibians at the American Museum of Natural History.

Thousands of persons who visit the museum—most of them are from out of town—apparently still believe that toads give warts, that they can live for indefinite periods without air or food and that they are poisonous to the touch. Harmless snakes have even worse reputations.

Traditions handed down for generations are responsible for this misinformation, Dr. Noble points out. Long ago the garden toad and the equally docile non-poisonous serpent were credited with being incarnations of evil, and the superstitions woven around them are hard to dispel.

"Many of the yarns about snakes are reflected in the popular names given to various species," observes the zoologist. "The hoop snake, the milk snake and the whip snake are examples."

"No snake can put its tail in its mouth and roll in the form of a hoop, yet many people in the south, where the hoop snake lives, believe that it can do such a trick. As a matter of fact he is quite harmless and not at all aggressive."

"The whip snake is often said to jump at people and lash them to death with its long tail. No snakes and only a few lizards use their tails as a means of offense or defense."

"The milk snake gets its name as well as its unsavory reputation from the fact that it is often found in cow barns, a coincidence that is attributable to its fondness for mice rather than to any inclination or ability to milk the cows."

"Many northern water snakes are erroneously called moccasins and are popularly regarded as poisonous. The true moccasin, which is poisonous, is found only in the southeastern part of the country. It is a near relative of the copperhead."

"Other fallacies are that snakes will pursue human beings and that they can strike more than their own length. The facts are that no snake will intentionally chase a person and that none can strike more than three quarters of its length."

"Stories of toads and lizards found alive in apparently air-tight rock pockets are fairly common, although few get the publicity attained by the now famous horned toad—a species of lizard—that is said to have lived for more than 30 years in a corner-stone in Eastland, Texas."

"It is biologically impossible for a vertebrate animal to live without oxygen," says Dr. Noble. "Some creatures, notably the lower worms, generate oxygen in their own bodies, but this supply is not large enough to allow them to exist in the ground for long periods with access to air. When a toad is found alive in a rock pocket it is safe to assume that he has been getting aid from a crevice."

To test the popular belief that these creatures could live indefinitely without oxygen, a British zoologist sealed twelve toads in separate holes bored into a block of porous limestone. Another dozen were imprisoned in dense sandstone. After 54 weeks the blocks were unsealed. The toads in the porous blocks were emaciated but alive, for enough oxygen and moisture had seeped through the coarse stone to sustain life. The dozen in the fine sandstone were dead.

DR. MARGARET WASHBURN HONORED BY PSYCHOLOGISTS

The many friends of Dr. Margaret Washburn in Kingston will be interested to learn of the honor conferred upon her recently at a dinner given in her honor at a meeting of the American Psychological Association held in Columbus, Ohio. At that time, Dr. Washburn was presented with a commemorative volume of The American Journal of Psychology, comprising thirty-two studies. Such a volume is presented only to those who distinguish themselves in the field of psychology, this being the fifth volume to be presented. The honor is one of the highest paid psychologists in this country.

The presentation of the volume was made by Professor Howard C. Warren of Princeton University to Professor Margaret Flor Washburn, Ph.D., '94, of Vassar College, where she has been professor of psychology for twenty-five years, during part of which time she served as an editor of The American Journal of Psychology.

Dr. Washburn, who lived in Kingston at one time, was born in New York; the daughter of the Rev. Francis Washburn, at one time rector of Holy Spirit Church, this city, and Mrs. Elizabeth Floy Washburn, his wife. She took the degree of Bachelor of Arts at Vassar College in 1891 and the Master of Arts degree in 1893 before going to Cornell for graduate work. From 1894 to 1900

Dr. Washburn was professor of psychology and ethics at Wells College. Before going to Vassar as associate professor of psychology in 1903 she was warden of Sage College and acted as assistant professor of psychology at the University of Cincinnati. She became professor of psychology at Vassar College in 1908.

In 1921 Dr. Washburn was president of the American Psychological Association. She is a member of the American Philosophical Association, Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi, and is the author and translator of many books on psychology.

Professor Madison Bentley, Ph.D., '98, of the University of Illinois, formerly of Cornell, and one of the leading psychologists of the country, presided at the dinner in honor of Dr. Washburn.

MAJORITY OF BIG BIRDS ARE USEFUL

Syracuse, N. Y., March 14.—Most of the larger birds found in the woodlot of New York are useful, claims the Roosevelt Wild Life Forest Experiment Station, at the New York State College of Forestry, Syracuse University.

W. L. McAtee of the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture recently made a study of the birds of New York State and finds that most of the hawks and owls are beneficial to the woodlot owner. Woodlots will be well rid of the sharp-shinned hawk, the Cooper's hawk and the goshawk, as they are responsible for most of the damage done by big birds to other animal life. Only rarely does the great horned owl appropriate chickens from the farm or game from the forest. Therefore, for the most part these families of large birds are beneficial to the woodlot.

Among the desirable hawks and owls, there is listed the red-tailed hawk, the red-shouldered hawk, the broad-winged hawk, the long-eared owl, the saw-whet owl, and the snowy owl. These birds generally destroy undesirable rodents, insects and other animal life that may be injurious to the well-being of the woodlot. The red-tailed hawk, for example, feeds upon grasshoppers, caterpillars, beetles, snakes, frogs and toads, and while occasionally condemned, this bird may generally be considered an economic and a scenic asset. The harm that these birds do, on the whole, is not serious, and are to be desired as part of the forest life.

Aside from the good that birds do in controlling the damage done by rodents and insects they are the direct cause of increasing the range of trees by the spreading of seeds. The larger birds of the woodlot, particularly the grouse, certainly can be classed as game birds and thus give to the sportsmen of the state certain recreation. Summer colonies, summer camps and summer boarding places continue to prosper because of their nearness to woods. Take away the woods with the trees, flowers, and birds and another of America's big industries would succumb.

"While trailing big game in Africa, I have never been without my Lucky Strike Cigarette. Once on the Abyssinian border my shipment of them from America missed us, and I was miserable until the natives followed our tracks across the Kaiser desert to Nairobi with my precious cargo of Luckies. After four years of smoking Luckies in wildest Africa, I find my voice in perfect condition for my lecture tour in America."

Less handicapped nowadays

New ideas on personal hygiene responsible,
says doctor

THE DOCTOR in a leading women's college was comparing this generation of girls with those of 25 years ago.

"We don't have nearly so many illness excuses from girls nowadays," he said. "Not even at those times when there is perfectly good reason for their feeling below par. For one thing, girls have learned how important it is to keep their systems functioning normally at all times. And at times when they are most likely to be upset and thrown off balance, they take special measures."

What doctors advise girls to use on such occasions is Nujol—a spoonful every night for several days beforehand helps to keep everything normal even under abnormal conditions. For it contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. Perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Try this treatment for the next three months, and see if it doesn't make things much easier for you. You'll wonder how you ever did without it.

Be sure you get the genuine.

To defeat a wet Catholic with a dry Catholic, by convincing the Democratic National Convention that it can not afford to nominate either, appears to be the aim of the dry Democrats behind the Walsh boom. Senator Thomas J. Walsh has an enviable record of public service—but for which many high-placed crooks would have escaped with their whole bulging bag of loot. But Senator Walsh is a Catholic (although dry), and to ask the partisan Protestant delegates from the South to nominate him is merely to ask them to do what they are said to be firmly opposed to doing in the case of Smith. So it looks like a mere scheme to convey the impression that it is only Smith's liberal views on prohibition that offend. There is much reason to believe that the dry Democrats behind the Walsh boom have not the slightest expectation that he can be nominated or even any desire to secure his nomination, their only object being the defeat of Smith.

MANDATES.

Heavy is the white man's burden, especially when the white man is British. Ibn Saud, King of the Hedjaz, goes to war for reasons of his own against Iraq and Transjordan, for whose government Great Britain is responsible under a mandate of the League of Nations. So Britain has to muster all the troops, armored cars and airplanes she can, which is not many, and hurry to defend those outlying portions of her empire.

The worst of it is that she has regarded Arabia, too, as a sort of British protectorate, and has been paying Ibn Saud a good salary to take care of it for her. Now that plume drops out of the British pie, temporarily at least. Meanwhile she is having troubles with Egypt, too, which takes self-determination seriously.

"Let us be grateful," says an American editor, "that nobody loaded any Iraq mandates on this country." Yea, verily! We have enough to do with our self-imposed Central American mandates.

THE FORESTRY BILL.

There is a forestry bill before Congress which deserves some consideration on the part of the public. It makes provision for investigations to determine the best methods of reforestation, of maintaining favorable conditions of water flow, control of fire, insects, disease and other harmful agencies. It calls for the maintenance of 12 forest experiment stations in the United States, one in Alaska and one in the West Indies.

In addition to studying the insect pests and diseases of trees and the prevention or control of these menaces, the bill paves the way for cooperation between federal government and states in making comprehensive surveys of present and prospective requirements for timber and other forest products, and discovering profitable reforestation methods under different conditions in widely different regions. Fire hazards and preventions, too, would come in for careful study.

We hear much talk about conservation and reforestation, and sometimes we come to believe that this talk has been turned into action. Yet the fact remains that there is not yet any comprehensive, thorough-going forestry program for the whole country. Such a program is needed.

"TRICK" QUESTIONS.

It is reported that Mrs. Mary Lackwood of Reading, Pa., has been rejected as a petitioner for naturalization because she answered, "The Constitution," when she was asked: "What is the name of the highest law of the country?" It appears that in the view of the officials the "highest law" is the Constitution plus the Federal statutes plus the treaties of the United States, inasmuch as the Constitution itself says that these "shall be the supreme law of the land." Apparently this is a trick question employed when it is desired to reject the applicant, for obviously the most highly educated native Americans might fail of the required answer. According to the New York Nation, the following are some of the questions put when immigrants are suspected of being mentally defective:

"What happens to a goat after it is served peach pie?" What kind of umbrella is the King of England carrying when it rains? What is the difference between an American and a British horse?
 Anybody undertaking to answer such questions could be justly accused of mental deficiency. And the questions to immigrants are actually in use at the Springfield Reception Station in New York City. It is not being teased—they deserve to rank with the question: "Go, Smith, once had put to him by an acquaintance who met him on Park Row in New York City: 'Which would you rather be, Al, a cellar full of stepladders, or a basket of doorknobs, or a piece of cracked ice?' Al's prompt answer was, 'I would rather be a hen because you can always break a pane of plate glass with a hammer.'"

WHAT IS KNOWN ABOUT CANCER.

Perhaps you wonder why with thousands of research men searching for the cause of cancer, and with millions of dollars behind their efforts that the secret has not been found.

And yet these efforts have revealed truths about cancer that might have been undiscovered for many years to come, thus delaying the day when cancer will be conquered.

What have they found out about cancer?

That some individuals seem to inherit the ability to be protected from cancer, because for generations back there has been not a single case of cancer in the family.

They have also discovered that cancer is not contagious. In the most painstaking and long continued experiments it has never been possible to transmit cancer by contact, whereas all infections studied in one of the cancer research institutions have been transmitted by contact of one person with another.

There are two factors necessary for the production of cancer: first, the conditions of the tissues themselves, and second, irritation or injuries to those tissues.

As you know cancer is always found on a "surface" tissue, like the lining of an organ, skin, mouth, intestine, stomach, and so forth. A place where it can be irritated by cancer cells are just normal cells that have overgrown the part.

It would seem that the irritation simply stimulates the cells of the part to multiply rapidly and these extra cells make up your cancer.

There is apparently something lacking in the individual which should be there to prevent this great multiplication or increase in the number of cells of the part.

It is now agreed that cancer is not due to any organism nor to any deficiency in the diet.

Eskimos, who are heavy meat eaters, and certain African tribes who never eat meat, are alike free from cancer.

Cancer is an "ailment of civilization," and it is possible that when the real cause is learned it may be found to be some low form of poisoning due to some of the habits of civilized peoples.

HOW

VOCABULARY OF BIRDS HAS BEEN EXPLAINED.
 The African Finch, reported to be the most voluble of all the members of the bird and animal kingdom, has a vocabulary of about 300 words and an alphabet of 24 letters and symbols. Dr. William M. Patterson, who is doing research work at Columbia University, told the American Psychological Association at a recent meeting reported by the New York Times. Says this paper:

"Contrary to the popular belief, a bird does not sing a little song when it opens its beak. It makes a little speech. These speeches aren't a repetition of the same word time after time, either. Sometimes this little speech that I have been observing will say a word and then he will not use it again for a week."

"According to Doctor Patterson, the bird carries out a daily schedule that varies from day to day less than the life of the average human being. The bird awakens at the same hour every morning, and at almost invariably makes the same morning speech of 14 seconds, Doctor Patterson said. As the average word the bird utters lasts but seven-tenths of a second, the bird speaks a paragraph of about twenty words, the speaker estimated.

"The bird builds up his words very much as the Hopi Indians in this country have built up theirs, according to the theory advanced by the speaker. He warned that the theory was still in the formative stage and could not be taken as proved. Another point in it is that the bird speaks in prose that is comparable to Sanskrit, Chinese, the language of the Hopi Indians and English. The African finch that Doctor Patterson exhibited is the only one known to be in captivity in this vicinity. The bird is a small, gray creature about the size of a wren. All attempts to get the finch to speak at the meeting last night failed.

"The recording of the various sounds that compose the bird's 'alphabet' has been done entirely by ear, Doctor Patterson said, since mechanical methods will not record the fine differences in pitch of the various notes the bird uses."

How Distillation of

Gold Is Brought About

According to an eminent French chemist, gold in the electric furnace boils freely at a temperature of 2,400 degrees Centigrade. In two or three minutes from 100 to 150 grains of gold pass, it is said, into the state of vapor. In condensation upon a cold body, this golden vapor forms silfluous masses and cubic crystals. At its temperature of ebullition gold dissolves a little carbon, which, at the moment of resolidification, is deposited in the form of graphite. In an alloy of gold and copper, copper distills first. In an alloy of gold and tin the tin distills more abundantly than the gold, and when a large quantity of these mixed vapors is taken, the tin burns on contact with the oxygen of the air, forming oxide of tin, colored purple by a fine dust of condensed gold. This is an unexpected method of preparing the color known as "purple of Cassius."

How to Gain Happiness

We do not get happiness by looking for it. So long as we look for it and make it the object of our striving and our search, it eludes us. That is the mistake—the tragic mistake—the multitudinous of professed pleasure seekers are making. They miss happiness just because they make it their aim. Happiness is a shy visitant, and it eludes the man who openly pursues it. But let a man cease to think about happiness; let him concern himself simply with his duty; let him do the task that lies to his hand and faithfully do his best in the station he occupies, and happiness will come stealing into his soul.—Montreal Herald.

How to Frost Glass

Frosted effect on glass may be obtained by the simple expedient of applying glue or gelatin to the surface. Usually a small amount of alum is added to the glue. As the glue dries it tears away from the surface of the glass in a fernlike effect. The appearance of the frosted pattern varies according to the strength and kind of glue or gelatin. By the use of a suitable stencil, the glue can be applied in any desired design.—Popular Science Monthly.

How Petroleum Forms

The generally accepted theory of the origin of petroleum is that petroleum comes from the decomposition of the remains of myriads of minute forms of animal life that existed ages ago. The oil which is contained in these microscopic bodies forms petroleum.

How Hot Is a Fire?

The temperature of a burning building is 1,700 degrees Fahrenheit. This was found by observing that brass, which melts at that temperature, is always either not melted or just on the verge of melting.—Farm and Fireside.

Weight of Metals

The weight of a cubic foot of various metals is as follows: Pure gold, 1,930 pounds per cubic foot; silver, 1,041 pounds; cast iron, 450 pounds; wrought iron, 480 pounds; steel, 490 pounds.

Delivers Milk In Pickle Jars To Customers

Charles Gruberg of Boulevard Ward, of Practice Street, or Ardent Hill Follow—Milk Principal Topic of Discussion at Health Board Meeting.

The practice of delivering milk to customers in pickle jars and quart jars is frowned upon by the board of health and Tuesday evening the regular monthly meeting of the board that fact was borne home to Charles Gruberg of the Boulevard, who had been cited to appear before the board by Dr. Daniel Connelly, health officer.

Mr. Gruberg resides on the former site place on the Boulevard and has two cows. The surplus milk from the cows he sells to customers.

Mr. Gruberg has no license from the health board to sell milk in the city, and according to Dr. Connelly, Gruberg has been delivering milk to customers in pickle jars and quart jars, and has been doing so for about a year. Dr. Connelly said that both Dr. Clarke and himself had warned Gruberg repeatedly that he must stop selling milk, but he was warning fell on deaf ears.

Mr. Gruberg in reply to questions Dr. Connelly said that what the doctor had stated was true and that he had been selling and delivering milk in pickle and quart jars. He had had some milk bottles but they had disappeared, he said.

After discussing the matter thoroughly Dr. Connelly informed Gruberg that if it was again caught selling milk without a license that he would have to place him under arrest and take him before the city judge.

"I got to make a living," protested Gruberg.

"You can't make it selling milk as you have been doing," retorted Dr. Connelly.

"What will I do tomorrow?" asked Gruberg.

"You can't sell milk," replied the health officer, "for if you do you will be placed under arrest."

The board left the entire matter to the hands of the health officer to see what action he thought fitting.

Milk Dealers Before Board.
Milk proved the principal object of discussion before the meeting. Messrs. Babcock, Gates and Joyce, local milk dealers, were in attendance at the meeting.

Clarence Babcock was of the opinion that the board should include Grade A pasteurized in the grades of milk allowed to be sold in the city, under the city code but three grades are recognized: Certified milk, Grade A and Grade B pasteurized.

The new state code that goes into effect July 1, provides for four grades of milk: Certified, Grade A and Grade A pasteurized and Grade B pasteurized.

Mr. Babcock was of the opinion that the city milk code should conform to the state code as far as the milk grades were concerned and asked the board to recognize Grade A pasteurized, which is not being done at the present time.

The entire milk question was referred back to the special milk committee of the board, who will report later.

Copeland Gates of Lake Katrine, who sells milk in Kingston, has purchased the Brabant Farms, milk business at Lomontville from the estate of the late Judge John G. Van Buren, and will supply the trade formerly served by that business.

Report on Dogs.
Dr. Connelly submitted a report on the activities of the dog catchers in the city showing that 73 dogs had been caught; 43 had been vaccinated; 3 had been redeemed by owners; and there were now 5 dogs in the pound at Forsyth Park. The dog question was left in the hands of the health officer with full power to take whatever action he deemed best.

Bills and claims were read, and the board then adjourned.

Noted Doctor At Men's Club

In securing Doctor Charles Henry Johnson of Albany, N. Y., as the speaker at the annual dinner and lecture night of the Men's Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church this evening, the club has been especially fortunate. 67 Bills Are Passed in Senate

Albany, March 14 (P).—Passing 67 bills, the Senate today cleared the way for consideration of several controversial bills tomorrow.

Among the measures passed was the Baumes-Lefkowitz bill, introduced in connection with the attorney general's campaign against "loan sharks" and aimed at the alleged illegal practices of salary buyers.

The measure was approved by the assembly Monday night and now goes to the governor.

The Senate also passed the Dickey Bill designed to make the unauthorized taking of an airplane a larceny.

After recommitting two crime commission bills, because of an error in printing, the Senate also gave approval to the Baumes-Edmond bill designed to provide that a person admitted to bail in connection with a charge of felony, and failing to appear would be guilty of another felony.

Six bills introduced by Senator Seabury C. Mastick, Republican, Westchester, intended to broaden the powers of municipal boards of education, and to make a sharper division between the powers of the boards and of local administrative authorities, were passed unanimously.

Left behind by the gouging wall of water from half a mile to a mile wide, sweeping 65 miles to the sea, were losses estimated at from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000. The City of Los Angeles, the heaviest individual sufferer, put its loss in the destroyed dam and the power house below it, at $2,000,000.

The waters flattened scores of homes, ranches, railroad lines and bridges, tore out wire systems, light and power wires, gas mains, highways and bridges, and wreaked incalculable loss in flattened and silt-buried orange and walnut orchards and other farm lands.

Variety of Theories.
Speculation on the cause of the breaking of the great dam covered a wide variety of theories. The postmistress at Saugus, Mrs. A. K. Rumsey, declared that for ten days ranchers living in the shadow of the dam had "talked of nothing else" but leaks under and through the structure. She said they fearfully discussed the possibility of the very disaster which swept down in the blackness of night to wipe out their homes and families.

"A major earth movement" that loosened the base of the western buttress, was given as the preliminary opinion of William Mulholland, chief engineer of the great aqueduct system of which the dam was a part. After he and his assistant had returned from an all-day tour of the scene, the board of water and power engineers said that the immediate cause was the giving way of the mountain on the western end of the dam. This was reported to have been weakened possibly by a fault in the mountain structure, or due to rains and seepage which softened the foundations.

Demand for relief work and medical supplies was at a minimum as all but a few of the persons in the path of the torrent apparently perished.

Police officers, sheriffs, valley residents and American Legion were organized to continue the search for bodies. Pack trains were formed to move bodies from the quagmire where other means of transportation failed.

KANSAS CITY BUILDER IMPORTS OUTDOOR ART
Kansas City, March 14 (P).—J. C. Nichols is going to Spain for ornaments with which to adorn a shopping center in Kansas City. For an adjoining residence area he already has brought outdoor objects from Italy. A sea horse fountain, from Venice and a dove vase from Florence are among more than 500 figures in little pools and parks, between streets lined with houses in Italian style.

When Nichols first imported European works for his plans he had to contend with vandalism. The city of Washington may benefit from Nichols' latest trip abroad, for he belongs to the capital park and planning commission.

When the builder came to Kansas City from Olathe, Kas., some twenty years ago, he had to borrow carfare. Today, at 47, he is one of the wealthiest men in the middle west.

SLAKESKINS FOR SHOES COME FROM OIL FIELDS.
San Angelo, Tex., March 14 (P).—Dame Fashion has interfered with a pastime of workers in the oil fields of west Texas.

Men who work about the derricks once delighted in tossing sticks of dynamite or small cans of nitroglycerine into dens of rattlesnakes. But fashion decreed snakeskin shoes and gave the reptiles a commercial value. So the workmen, who have been too prosperous because of the slump in the oil industry, now drag the snakes from the dens with hooked poles and collect the skins, which are dried in the sun and shipped to shoe manufacturing centers where they bring prices which nicely augment the wages of the laborers.

Several hundred rattlesnakes have been found in a single den.

Masonic Club Dance.
Masons and friends are invited to attend a dance to be held in the Masonic Clubrooms on Broadway, near Henry street, Friday evening, March 16. Zucca's Orchestra will furnish the music for the event. A good time is promised to those who attend the dance.

Summary of Dam Disaster

Los Angeles, Mar. 14 (P).—A summary of the situation in the area stricken by the St. Francis Dam break are as follows:

Available figures this morning showed 231 bodies recovered and 300 to 600 persons still missing and believed to have perished.

Property damage estimated at from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000. The affected area is 65 miles long, beginning with the floor of San Francisco Canyon, which is half a mile wide at the dam site, and extending into the gradually widening valley about twenty miles before reaching the old bed of the Santa Clara river and running into the Pacific.

Some city officials declared a preliminary examination indicated the break had been caused by an earth movement or some external force. Passing motorists and valley residents declared seepage around the buttress might have been the cause.

The few persons who escaped after being engulfed in the racing waters were for the most part uninjured. There was little demand for relief work and medical supplies. It was said the aid of the state would not be needed.

Orange growers of the stricken district said they were threatened with enormous losses because of disruption of communication at the moment when the crop was ready for shipping.

A gigantic rescue organization was made up of sheriffs, policemen, American Legion members and valley residents to search through the thousands of tons of silt for bodies of the victims.

Pack trains were formed to move bodies out of the quagmire where automobiles and other methods of transportation failed.

The canyon bottom and valley were swept clear of all signs of civilization for several miles. In the silt deposit, which in some places was thirty feet deep, remained the uncounted bodies of the victims, houses, livestock and other ruins.

Discuss Life Of Radio Board

Washington, March 14 (P).—What to do in case Congress fails to pass legislation by Thursday to extend the life of the Federal Radio Commission, which expires on that day, was discussed by President Coolidge today with Secretary Hoover.

After his conference at the White House, Hoover said that although the law provides that upon the expiration of the commission its duties shall revert to the secretary of commerce, and it shall remain as an appellate body, he would probably continue to refer decisions to the commission.

Inasmuch as Hoover believes ultimate extension of its life is a foregone conclusion, he was of the opinion that the radio organization should not be unduly disrupted.

DUCE'S DAILY BOOK IS NEVER FICTION

Rome, Italy, March 14 (P).—One book a day, and that a good, thick, juicy treatise on some outstanding present-day problem, is Mussolini's present literary fare.

Fiction is sternly barred from the Duce's mental diet as incompatible with fascist seriousness. Always a voracious reader, and in the main self-educated after his meager training in a state normal school, Mussolini has the gift of absorbing pages at a glance.

The premier does not have to rely on translations to any great degree, as he reads French with ease and German almost as readily. English comes a bit harder, but by dint of the three lessons a week he hopes to begin Darwin.

REDEEMER TO HAVE MEN'S BIBLE CLASS.

A Men's Bible Class will be started at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer on Sunday morning, meeting at the regular Bible school hour, 11:45. The pastor, the Rev. E. O. Brandorf, will be the teacher. A meeting to elect officers will be held at a future date.

At the meeting of the church council it was decided to hold two services on Good Friday, one at 2 p. m. and the other at 7:45 p. m. An early Easter service will be held at 5 a. m. on Easter day while the Easter communion will be held at 10 a. m. The choir will sing Stainer's "Crucifixion" on Wednesday evening of Holy Week, April 4. An effort is being made to raise $1,000 through the Lenten self-denial envelopes.

Sunday evening, March 25, will be known as Question Night when instead of preaching a sermon the pastor will answer a number of questions which frequently disturb Christians and others. The treasurer and secretary showed large increases of offerings and attendances for February over those of last year.

It was decided to continue week day services after Easter, the services to be of an informal nature, consisting of Bible study, prayer and song.

Two new members were received by the church council.

News From the World on Wheels

More than ordinary interest has been shown in the announcement of a new eight-cylinder car, made by the Packard Motor Car Company last week. The Packard Standard Eight, as the car is called, has attracted unusual attention because it enters a field among motor car sales classifications which had not been occupied before. Packard executives say it will take care of the thousands of people who want all the performance, beauty, comfort and prestige that has characterized the Packard Eight, but who do not desire the extra luxuries of a custom built car. The Standard Eight completes the Packard line by providing a car priced between the Packard Six and the Packard Custom Eight. With it Packard now has 35 different models from which to choose.

Chevrolet has smashed all past sales records for a new model of any car, with 250,000 cars sold and delivered since January 1, according to announcement by the company made in connection with a big "radio party" to be held in celebration of the event on Monday evening, March 19.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—A ball given by Mrs. E. F. Hutton at Palm Beach for her servants and their friends reminds veteran society editors of the heyday of Mrs. Sturgesant Fish in New York when she always had a waiting list of applicants, although she paid lower wages than many others. She had a ball at Newport for her servants; she has won to ask their advice about her gowns and she fed them well.

Berlin—The head flunkier of the Prince Albrecht Palace explains why Amanullah of Afghanistan was entertained there instead of a hotel. "We know how to behave in the presence of royalty; those hotel fellows don't."

Prince Friedrich Heinrich, who owns the palace, got $25,000 for the king's fortnight stay.

New York—An Alfred Smith, who has tapped at our front door, is attracting more attention momentarily than the Governor. The visitor is better known as Trader Horn, who gets $4,000 a week or so royalty for his description of barter in Africa. But money is nothing new to him. "I have had plenty of it before," he explained. "But it always seems to have legs on it—a centipede. That's it—just walks away from me."

London—Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, famous surgeon, would like to be dictator of Great Britain so he could reduce the number of hospitals by one-half. He would do it by teaching people how to eat. They stuff themselves now, he says. Every monthful is a coffin nail ten years hence. If we stop people committing suicide by overloading their stomachs we may begin breeding a race of supermen and superwomen.

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on the tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

$2.80 IS LEAGUE'S NET POOL PRICE FOR FEBRUARY

New York, March 14.—A net pool price of $2.80 per 100 pounds for 3.5 milk at the 201-210 mile zone was announced today by the Dairyman's League Cooperative Association, Inc., as the basis upon which return will be made to its members for February deliveries.

This price is ten cents below the return of January, and is due to seasonal conditions in the trade, primarily increasing surplus milk supplies. Much of this surplus which is not regulated by orderly marketing practices is being dumped into the New York market, and bearing prices downward.

Despite this the league's February price is 13 cents above that of February, 1927; 49 cents above that of February, 1926, and 38 1/2 cents above the 1925 net pool price.

Mussolini's latest ukase forbids officers of the army and navy from dancing erotic fads. Nothing is said about dancing to Mussolini's every whim.

A great many of the rugged sons of pioneer fathers drive downtown in the morning with one window of their sedan turned nearly halfway down.

The rumble seat, mounted from the rear, is returning to favor and in France there is a revival of the old-time custom that bottomed up in back.

Irving Fisher says that 80 per cent. of our people barely earn a living. The truth is that they earn an excellent living but it is the 20 per cent. who get it.

Even when the worst happens in the Balkans the successful correspondent can cover the matter quite comprehensively by citing No. 1 in the situation.

"Electricity brings increased comfort"

Says Herbert Hoover, Secretary U. S. Department of Commerce

"We are in the midst of a great transformation in the development of electric power—it is reducing the burden of human toil; it is increasing productivity; it is bringing increased comfort to our people."

WHAT each workman in the United States can do with his hands is multiplied ten times by the electric power he uses. Sixty-eight million people are also using labor-saving electrical devices in their homes.

Electrical service has its greatest value because it is delivered at the time and place where it is needed. That is what electrical service means, and the foresight and enterprise of the country's light and power companies have helped make it possible.

Because power companies built power plants and transmission lines that would take care of the growing demand for service many years in advance, every new electrical invention has found an abundance of power ready to serve it. Now even the small communities get electrical service through interconnected power systems.

Enthusiastic public acceptance has done much to help build this electrical service. Three million investors own the securities of electric power companies and the whole public has benefited from rate reductions made possible through increased use of labor saving devices.

To insure the complete fulfillment of the promise of comfort and happiness which electricity offers, the American principle of individual initiative must be maintained.

Grab Bag Buying

REMEMBER your kid days—when you went to a bazaar or fair of any kind there was always a grab bag—one of those nuptial things you reached into and drew out a whistle, a lollipop, a doll or a toy of some kind. You never knew what you were going to get—but that was half the fun—you didn't care.

But now when you buy, you want to be sure of what you get. You can't take chances on grab bag methods. You must know that your purchase will fit your need. But do you?

There is one way you can be reasonably sure of everything you buy. Buy advertised products. Look through the advertisements in this paper. They will give you the information necessary to intelligent buying. They will tell you what is new and best and why it will suit you.

Advertisements are a form of introduction from the manufacturer or merchant to you. It is to your interest to read them.

Advertisements tell you what you want to know about the goods you buy.

Today's Chandler is one of America's Greatest Automobiles

AFTER carefully examining this year's automobiles of various makes—we are doubly convinced that the new Chandler offers more style and luxury—more real comfort—much livelier performance—than any other car within hundreds of dollars of the price.

Today's new Chandler is proving itself one of America's greatest automobiles. Chandler's Big Six can outperform any six it meets—and Chandler's Royal Eight will outperform any eight. And they also offer you the most important improvement in years...

Westinghouse Vacuum Brakes! As the first American car equipped with this development of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, Chandler is absolutely effortless to control at any speed.

Just the softest, gentlest touch of your toe on the brake pedal brings the car to a quick, safe stop with marvelous "cushioned" smoothness.

And, say—if you have never driven a Chandler, drive one now. Step on the gas trigger—feel that irresistible, instantaneous surge of Pikes Peak high-velocity power.

And to lubricate the chassis from end to end, you merely press a plunger with your foot—and Chandler's "One Shot" centralized lubricating system does the whole job automatically. Saving money. Saving time.

And what a variety of magnificent models—thirty of them—$995 to $2195 f. o. b. factory. Come see—come drive—compare!

"Dry" Violators Will Be Jailed

Buffalo, N. Y., Mar. 14 (AP).—Jail sentences loom for a score of alleged violators of the national prohibition act if they are convicted in trials before United States Judge Simon L. Adler at the March term of federal court beginning today.

Federal Attorney Richard H. Templeton made the demand for stern punishment at the opening of court yesterday and followed up his petition by moving the trials of ten alleged second offenders as preferred cases on the present calendar. They are charged with possession of liquor, contrary to law, second offense, which carries an optional jail sentence and a fine of not less than $100. It is in these cases that the prosecutor demands jail sentences only.

Twelve other alleged prohibition offenders are charged with manufacturing and selling intoxicants, which carries a mandatory jail sentence upon conviction, the term to be not less than one month and more than five years. The court may also impose fines ranging from $200 to $2,000. This group includes the names of men from Middleport, Lockport, Newark, N. Y., Batavia and Buffalo, N. Y.

NEW LEAGUE CONTRACTS OFFSET CANCELLATIONS

New York, March 14.—A total of 1,531 active pooling members of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., exercised their privilege of withdrawal during the annual withdrawal period which ended February 28, says a report issued by the association today. This is an increase of about 400 over last year's withdrawals.

While these cancellations are effective April 1, many will be nullified by reconsiderations, some of which have already been received by the association.

In comparison to the annual withdrawal report, the league shows 630 new membership contracts received during February, an increase of 142 over the same month a year ago, and making the total signed up during the current fiscal year, which began April 1, 1927, 6,510, or 2,026 more than was accepted during the same period of the previous year.

Reds Talking A Good Game

Champion National League Expected to Start Out in '28 Pennant Race

Orlando, Fla., March 14 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds may take themselves into a position somewhere near the front of the National League stage, if their lungs hold out the Red Legs training at Orlando will be the character of the circuit when serious play begins.

Tall George Kelly, scampering about first base, is the mangle of the infield, with heavy vocational support from Critz, Ford and Drennon, and Ray Kolp is now called "Windy" because he is a pitcher with fair stuff and a lot of courage.

The Reds think they will be in the pennant hunt and do not mind saying so. No drastic changes have been made in the personnel since last season but there is every indication that the team will get a better start than was the case a year ago.

Hughie Critz was not among those present at the training camp last season and Kelly, of whom much was expected, reported with an appendix swelling up, which finally threw him down in Philadelphia and sent him to a hospital.

The infield will start with Kelly at first, Critz playing second, Ford at short and Drennon assigned to third. While Pipp will play first base on occasion and Pittenger and Jack White, the former Fordham infielder, probably will make up the reserve, although Emmett McCann, who had trials with the Athletics and Washington, has played well in the spring.

Manager Hendricks does not know what he will do about the outfield although two of the positions are almost sure to go to the tried Curly Walker and sensational young Elban Allen, who joined the Reds last season without minor league experience and showed that he did not need it.

"Kid" Purdy, who reported to the Reds from Seattle last year and made a deep impression before he was injured, is fighting for a place, as is his former Seattle team-mate, Marty Callahan. Rube Bressler, the converted pitcher, who is a dangerous right-handed batsman, found himself at odds with the management and probably will see one of the youngsters take his place in left field, according to Hendricks, who will do the assigning. Bill Zitzmann, of last year's outfit, is another available.

The Reds brought over a number of first string pitchers from last season, including Epps, Riser, Red Lucas, Jack May, Adolfo Luque, Pete Donohue, Carl Mays and Ray Kolp. Beckman, who joined the team last year, and Jablonowski, recalled from Hartford, are bidding for places. Big Jim Edwards, with several years' experience in the American League to help him along, was drafted from Seattle and seems to be in good position to stage a comeback. Ken Ash, from the Virginia League, and Albus Sweeney, late of the Orlando club, would have a good chance to remain with a club less plentifully supplied with pitching skill.

SENATE LUNCH FIVE BEAT KATRINE GRANGERS

Taberski Leads Billiard Match

Chicago, March 14 (AP).—Frank Taberski of Schenectady, the national pocket billiards champion, held the lead in the present tournament for the title today, the only undefeated entry on the ten in the field. He has yet to meet Ralph Greenleaf of Philadelphia and Ernie Rudolph of Chicago, former champions, each of whom has lost one game.

All three of these experts were on today's schedule but not meeting each other. Rudolph received his first setback in the meet yesterday from Joseph Concession of Washington, the ninth place entry, 125 to 55.

Greenleaf achieved his best form of the tourney in defeating Onofrio Lauri of New York last night, 125 to 59, with several good runs, the best being 45. Today's games:

Peter Durocher, Chicago, vs. Harry Oswald, Pittsburgh.

Frank Taberski, Schenectady, vs. Onofrio Lauri, New York.

Ralph Greenleaf, Philadelphia, vs. Pasquale Natale, Baltimore.

Ernie Rudolph, Chicago, vs. Peter Durocher, Chicago.

American League Flag Race Will Be Hard One

Miller Huggins says the American league pennant race of 1928 will not be a repetition of the pennant race of 1927. "There will be no walkaway for New York this season," he prophesied.

Huggins believes that Washington and Philadelphia will make a race of it, instead of a New York parade. He explains:

"Washington is stronger than it was last season and so is Philadelphia.

"George Sisler will help Washington. Gaston will make a strong pitching staff all the stronger.

"Tris Speaker will make the Philadelphia outfield. Connie Mack has fine pitching. Grove and Walberg, two of his left-handers, are going to make a whole lot of trouble this season.

"Connie Mack bought Robert Moses Grove from Baltimore for $100,000. The terms of the sale gave him 10 years in which to pay the money. He hands over $10,000 every year and he saves that by refusing to take on $10,000 worth of untied material offered him by minor league clubs.

"When Mack agreed to pay $100,000 for Grove, I thought he made a terrible bargain," said Huggins, "but not any more. I'd like to make a 'terrible' bargain like that right now."

Fitzsimmons Stars

Great things are expected of Fred Fitzsimmons, husky Giant pitcher, this year. When secured from Indianapolis in 1925 he went right out and made good from the start. He was better last year, and this season he is counted to create a new sensation.

George Sisler Sees Big Year for Griff's Team

George Sisler, star first baseman and former kingpin slagger of the American league, was en route recently to the Tampa (Fla.) spring training camp of the Washington Senators left for the East after spending the winter at Laguna beach.

The first sacker, who previous to being sold to Washington, played with the St. Louis Browns, said that he hopes to have the best season he has had since his brilliant career was halted temporarily by sinus trouble.

"I am in the best condition I have been in for some years, and I'm due to have a big year with the Washingtons," Sisler said.

CHANDLERS TO MEET RED SHIELDS

The Chandler basketball team, which represented the local Y. M. C. A. and won the championship of the Northeastern District at Cohoes recently, will meet the Red Shields at the Y. M. C. A. court Friday night. The latter team has proved its supremacy over teams in various sections of New York state and New Jersey and when the two Kingston teams meet at the "Y" Friday a fast game is expected.

It is likely the Chandlers, owing to their copying of the Northeastern District "Y" championship, will compete in tournaments to be sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Demons vs. Judexans.

The Uptown Jewish Demons and the Young Judexans quietest of downtown will meet for a basketball tilt on the Salvation Army court tonight. The former team members will play their first game together tonight and expects to have a tough time with the Judexans.

Chicago Cubs Have Improved

According To Manager McCarthy, Who Has Hopes of Capturing National Pennant—Adds Veterans "Kiki" Cuyler To His Squad.

Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, Cal., March 14 (AP).—Into the National League pennant race the Chicago Cubs expect to thrust a threat even more menacing than their challenge of last year. All the attributes of a pennant winning team are centered in the aggregation. The players have the necessary confidence, youth, speed and dash to carry a baseball team to victory, says Manager Joe McCarthy.

McCarthy believes the squad has improved both defensively and offensively over last season. He has added the veteran and colorful "Kiki" Cuyler and a number of minor leaguers who bring much to the various departments.

Cuyler stepped from the Pittsburgh Pirate bench to a regular berth as rightfielder for the Chicago Cubs. McCarthy says without question that the injection of Cuyler into the lineup will improve the Cubs' power to a great degree. The former Buccaneer has been using his bludgeon with much vigor and success in spring training here.

It is in the pitching department that McCarthy thinks the greatest improvement will be evidenced.

Southpaw Percy Lee Jones and Bob Osborne, handicapped last year by sore arms, are showing a world of stuff. McCarthy considers Charley Root, winner of more games last season than any other National League pitcher, as good or better than he was in the 1927 pennant campaign.

A lack of relief hurlers, brought forward as one reason for the Cubs' failure to take the gonfalon last season, has been remedied by the addition of Percy Malone, obtained from the Minneapolis club, together with a record of twenty victories and the title of strikeout king of the American Association. Malone pitched in some 53 games in the Double A League last year, and will see considerable relief work on the mound for the Cubs.

The sharpshooting John "Sheriff" Blake again will be a mainstay of the twirling corps, while the former Giant, Art Nehf, may contribute to the Cubs' win column.

The Cub staff is one McCarthy has not definitely decided on but the way things look it lines up much in this shape:

First base—Charles Grimm, with Joe Kelly, outfielder, as an understudy.

Second base—Fred Naguire or Norman McMillan.

Shortstop—Woody English, with Clyde Beck to relieve him.

Third base—Elmer Yeter, or John Butler.

The 29-year-old English seems to have first call at short, with Beck a player yet to be reckoned with.

Naguire, McMillan and Butler are newcomers. Naguire came from Toledo with a batting average of .326. McMillan from St. Paul, .305 and Butler from Brooklyn in the National League, where his stick work for the season averaged .238.

McMillan was the keyman of a combination that last year in the American Association set a world record for double plays.

As is the case of the infield, the outer garden looks strong both defensively and offensively. McCarthy has three right-handed hitters and two left-handers. Jackson "Riggs" Stephenson, who, ranked as the fourth best batsman in the league last season, with a mark of .344 seems secure in left field. The rotund Hack Wilson, whose stick work averaged .317, has the call in center, and Cuyler is certain in right. In addition, McCarthy has Earl Webb and Cliff Heathcote for fly chasing.

FREDDY WETMORE TO MANAGE POUGHKEEPSIE BALL CLUB

Freddy Wetmore, widely known Poughkeepsie baseball promoter, will manage the new Poughkeepsie Sunday baseball club. His appointment was announced after a conference with the baseball committee of the common council of the Ridge City. The club will take the field in April.

Emil Beal and Crackie Holden will be the umpires.

Wetmore announced today the group of Poughkeepsie players who will be given a try-out for the first team. If any players think themselves qualified and are not mentioned, Wetmore wants them to get in touch with him. He expects to form a second club so that there will be plenty of material.

Those who will constitute the nucleus of the squad are: Freddie Dahm, Dutch Shorter, Shorty Allen, Nelson Dewey, "Swat" Russell, Frank McManus, Earl Ratka, Forie Raman, "Sol" Soloway, William Horton, George Duhowsky, Tom McCormick, Joe Haven, "Slim" Wunderley, Maurice McDermott, Vincent Roselle, Fritz Gilbert, Frank Becker and Clarence Loole. Gilbert of Hyde Park, will be used as a pitcher if he is not successful in his try-out with the Giants, Wetmore said. Wetmore has also written to Eddie Phalen, in New York, and hopes to obtain him as a relief hurler.

NOTY PROBLEM NOW UP TO COLONEL RUPPERT

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 14 (AP).—Walter Hoyt's tiff with the Yanks over an increase in salary was at a standstill today with Colonel Jacob Rupprecht, owner of the club, endeavoring to bring about a settlement.

Holt is said to be asking $20,000 per annum for two years. Manager Huggins has dropped negotiating with Hoyt and the problem now is up to Rupprecht.

The latest honor to come to Babe Ruth is a bright brown badge denoting he is a special deputy sheriff of Lackawanna county, Pennsylvania.

High School Swimming Meet

Hamilton, N. Y., March 14 (AP).—The fourth annual New York State High School Swimming Meet will open here Friday night in the Colgate University tank. The meet will be held under the auspices of the New York State Public High School Athletic Association.

Contests in nine swimming and diving events will be staged between teams from the five sections of the state, as follows: Section 1, Hudson Valley and Long Island; Section 2, Northeastern New York; Section 3, Central and Northern New York; Section 4, Western Central New York; and Section 5, Western New York.

These sectional teams are composed of the winners in each event in sectional meets. Comprising the teams from Section 3, Syracuse Central High School has six contestants entered in five events: North High School, Syracuse, has one entry; Vocational High School, Syracuse, one entry; Ithaca High School, two entries; and Binghamton High School, three entries in four events. The relay team from Section 3 is from Binghamton High School, which won the sectional contest.

The team from Section 5 is composed of five contestants from Hutchinson High School, Buffalo; four from Lafayette High School, Buffalo; two from Bennett High School, Buffalo, and two from Niagara Falls High School. The relay team of the fifth section is that of Hutchinson High School, winners of the sectional event.

The team trophy, awarded to the sectional team making the most points during the meet, is now held by section five, which won last year's meet with 50 points. Section four was the runner-up with 22 points.

Individual contestants winning the first four places in each event will be awarded medals, while a trophy will go to the school which wins the relay race.

The meet will be staged in two sections, preliminary events being held on Friday night, and finals on Saturday afternoon. Contestants will be entertained at the various fraternity houses of Colgate University.

RED SHIELDS WILL PLAY MT. VERNON FIVE

The Red Shield basketball team of this city will play The Baraca Five of Mt. Vernon at the Salvation Army court, North Front street, Saturday night, March 17.

The Red Shields have a win over this team, beating them at Mt. Vernon some time ago by a margin of two points, so a very fast game may be expected. The Baracas will carry ten men in their lineup while the Red Shields will take the floor with their usual lineup of Captain DuBois, Hyatt, Merritt, Smith, Short and Joyce.

Hamilton.

"The growth of the State Fund," said Commissioner Hamilton, "is proof that its economic service to industry is widely appreciated. Through advance discounts and subsequent dividends, employers now get compensation insurance in the Fund at less cost than in any other carrier in the state. At the same time injured employees receive prompt medical attention and payment of claims, a humanitarian and economic aid of the greatest importance."

"The Fund's annual premium receipts are now more than $7,000,000."

"Last year the Fund saved employers in New York State more than $2,000,000 by its initial discount of 15 percent on rates and its usual 15 percent dividend which has just been announced for 1928. In the last thirteen and a half years it has saved them more than $14,000,000."

"The Fund last year handled more than 47,000 accident cases, and at the home office in New York made more than 15,000 examinations of injured workmen. Its physiotherapy work also is aiding disabled men cut down their non-earning periods. Over 8,000 treatments were given in this section."

"An Advisory Committee of policyholders, composed of outstanding business men of the State, has aided materially in the Fund's success."

Income Tax in a Nutshell

Tips for Tax Payers.

NO. 27.

Various penalties are imposed by the statute for failure to file a return and pay the tax on time, and for making a fraudulent return. Distinction is made between failure and "willful failure" to file a return. For failure to file a return on time, the penalty is 25 percent of the amount of the tax, unless a return is later filed and it is satisfactorily shown to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue that such failure was due to a reasonable cause and not to willful neglect. If a taxpayer exercised ordinary business care and prudence, and nevertheless was unable to file a return within the prescribed time, the delay is due to a "reasonable cause."

For willful failure to make a return the penalty is not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, and in addition 25 percent of the amount of the tax. For willfully making a false or fraudulent return, the penalty is not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than five years, or both, and in addition 50 percent of the amount of the tax.

All plans are complete for the big annual dance to be held by the students of Spencer's Business School. They have secured the Y. W. C. A. hall for Tuesday evening, March 27, and have also secured the services of Tony Turck and his "Romance of Rhythm" orchestra. This dance is an annual affair and promises to be the best one ever held. The students are very enthusiastic about it and many have already promised to sell large numbers of tickets so a large crowd is anticipated by the committee in charge. Tickets may be secured from any of the students or by calling upon Professor Kelly, principal of the school.

Are daily runs from a cold? Do your nose drip up to a few drops each day? Cold germs usually stay dormant in the lining of your nose. When the lining gets irritated, the cold germs start to multiply. They then travel down to the sinuses, where they cause inflammation. This causes the sinuses to produce extra mucus, which is the stuff that comes out of your nose. When you have a cold, your nose is often stuffed up. This is because the inflammation in the sinuses causes the sinuses to produce extra mucus. This mucus then travels down to the throat, where it causes a sore throat. You can prevent a cold by washing your hands often, avoiding crowded places, and avoiding people who are sick. You can also prevent a cold by taking vitamin C supplements. Vitamin C helps to strengthen your immune system, which helps to fight off cold germs. You can also prevent a cold by getting enough sleep and eating a healthy diet. If you have a cold, you can get rid of it by taking over-the-counter cold and flu medicine. This medicine helps to reduce inflammation and mucus production. You can also get rid of a cold by drinking plenty of fluids and getting plenty of rest.

A warm sun, beating down on newly-fallen snow for two days, aided in forcing the stream's level up until the ice began to move out. The ice became jammed below the village and despite the use of dynamite the jam grew until it forced the stream over its banks and into lower floors and cellars of buildings.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 14 (AP).—Speculators for the advance regained control of the price movement in today's stock market after an early flurry of selling which followed the opening break of 3 1/2 shares in Radio. Radio made up its loss before the end of the first hour and was selling 3 points above yesterday's final quotation by early afternoon, although the turn-over in that and other stocks showed reduction in volume.
Resumption of dividends on Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies preferred, and declaration of an extra dividend of 49 cents on Devon and Reynolds were regarded as bullish, although the former stock broke 6 points on the traditional "selling on the good news."

Call money renewed at 4 1/2 percent despite heavy demands for currency in connection with the two million turnover of funds tomorrow. Although the report of an agreement on eastern trunk line consolidations were characterized by bankers as premature, railroad stocks assumed increasing importance in the market. Delaware and Hudson jumped six points, Lehigh Valley 5 1/2, Wabash 4 1/2, and Chesapeake and Ohio, Lackawanna, Reading, Missouri Pacific and a few others advanced 3 points or more. Southern Railway, Mobile and Ohio certificates broke 10 1/2 points to 119 1/2.
American Linsseed, in which a large short interest is reported to have been locked in, extended its gain to nearly 12 points by touching a new high record at 106. Hudson ran up 7 points to a new peak at 97 1/2, and Vanadium Steel recorded a similar gain. General Cable rallied 6 1/2 points and American Machine and Foundry, and Union Carbide four each. General Motors, after three days of sluggish price movements, suddenly spurted 3 points to 159, or only two points below last Saturday's record breaking high.

Didn't Have Nerve to Cook the Little Pig

A Cleveland housewife who was entertaining some very special friends from out of the city, wanted to have a dinner that would linger in their memory for some time to come. What could be nicer, she thought, than a roast sucking pig?

Accordingly the little pig was sent home from the butcher's, unwrapped and laid on the kitchen table, where her small son caught sight of it and burst into tears.

"Don't cook that dear little piggie," he wailed, disconsolately.

His mother sent him from the kitchen and picked the pig up to carry it across the room.

"In that moment," she reports, "my courage failed me. There was something so much like a little baby about that poor little pig that I set it down in a hurry. I realized then and there that I didn't have the nerve to cook it. Like my son, I wiped the tears out of my eyes and put the 'dear little piggie' out of my mind forever. We had roast beef for dinner."

Chinese Telegraphy

The transmission and receipt of telegrams in China is not so easy as in western countries, because the Chinese language lacks an alphabet and expresses itself by characters and signs that represent words. In consequence, for purposes of telegraphing an exact list has been made of signs in quantity sufficient for ordinary correspondence, and to each one of the signs a different number is given which is transmitted by the Morse telegraphic system. The code consists of 2,800 ciphers, the whole forming a pamphlet of 49 pages, each one of which contains 10 series of 20 characters with its corresponding number. On receipt of a telegram the operator looks up in his book the characters represented by the numbers transmitted by the apparatus and transcribes them into legible Chinese.

The winter edition of Boston's telephone directory has been enlarged to two volumes, probably to accommodate all the broad A's.

Smith Considers His Vacation

Anticipating the strenuous political activities which are to mark the early summer months, Governor Smith is giving serious consideration to the place in which he will spend his customary post legislative vacation.

He indicated today that he is anxious to go to some location not near Albany or New York so that scores of persons who always seek him out will be discouraged from interrupting his rest.

One possibility in the camp of David J. Fitzgerald of Glens Falls at Brant Lake, in the southeastern Adirondacks, where the Governor spent one summer. The camp is comparatively inaccessible, and will allow the Governor opportunity for recreation.

With the adjournment of the Legislature set for March 22, the Governor believes that he will be able to leave Albany by April 1 after clearing up the mass of bills which will be sent him by the legislature during the last ten days of the session. Hearings have been scheduled on several of the measures.

The Governor announced today that he had fixed Thursday, March 29, as the date of a hearing on the application for clemency of Frank "Dixie" Baldwin, a negro, convicted of first degree murder in Seneca county and sentenced to be executed during the week of April 2.

CARAWAY DECLARES HAYS ACTED AS A FENCE.

Washington, March 14 (AP).—The Teapot Dome oil scandal again was aired on the floor of the Senate today when Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, declared that Will H. Hays, former chairman of the Republican national committee, acted as a fence in disposing of the $160,000 in Liberty bonds given the committee by Harry F. Sinclair.

"Recent investigations have disclosed the fact that Albert B. Fall was more guilty than at first thought," Caraway said.

"He was not alone in the Teapot Dome transaction. Will Hays had full knowledge that the bonds were a part of the price of the Teapot Dome lease, and investigations have disclosed that at least four cabinet members had knowledge of it."

"Will Hays was a fence, disposing of stolen goods and aiding the thief to find a market. Some of the bonds were sent to Secretary Mellon. He refused to disclose that information and gave them back to the fence."

CHINESE CHIEFTAIN ADOPTS JULIAN CALENDAR

Peking, Mar. 14 (AP).—Marshal Feng Yushang, revolutionary leader, seeking to modernize the realm, has ordered the abolition of the old Chinese lunar calendar.

When China became a republic in 1912 adoption of the occidental calendar for official purposes was proclaimed, but the 400,000,000 Chinese paid practically no heed to the order, clinging to their old calendar with its shifting New Year's day. According to the lunar calendar seven out of every nineteen years have 13 months, the rest 12.

Marshal Feng orders that all records and legal documents be dated in occidental style and that all festivals in the old calendar be abolished or observed on the corresponding day of the western system. He also forbids schools or other organizations to grant holidays at Chinese New Year or other fete-days of the lunar year.

New York Central Denies Charge

Made by John L. Lewis That It Would Have Changed to the Union System in the Coal Field Through Their Large Purchasing Power.

Washington, March 14 (AP).—First denial to charges of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, that railroads have conspired to break down unionism in the coal fields by exercising their purchasing power, was made today before the Senate committee investigating the bituminous industry by C. Bower, manager of purchases for the New York Central.

He testified that he is not and has not been in any "conspiracy, agreement or understanding with any other railroad system or company to exert bargaining power to depress prices of railroad fuel or to favor non-union operators, or miners, or for any other similar purpose."

"I know that the management of the New York Central system is engaged in any such conspiracy," he continued, "and that it has no agreements or understanding, because no such conspiracy, agreement or understanding could be carried out, since I am directly responsible for all fuel contracts in the system and none are made without my authorization and actual supervision."

"Further, I have never received any instruction, suggestion or intimation from Mr. Crowley, the president of the system, to whom I direct my report, that I should have agreement or understanding with other railroads with respect to the matter or that I should employ bargaining power of the system or any individual member of it to depress fuel coal prices or to exclude operators or miners, union or non-union."

THE LECTURE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

IT'S hard for kids like me to find a place to see at baseball games. Or anything of any kind. "You mustn't hide your father, James."

At parties older folks take all the chairs, and nearly all the floor. And we must stay out in the hall. Or else just hang around the door. The seat in front, for all the fun, is always for some older one.

They crowd us back, and nearly out. And if we dare to say a word, they turn around and fairly shout. That children should be seen, not heard. But how can any child be seen? Behind a davenport, I mean.

But I can sit in one front row. And not be told to hold my horse. And that's when Ma makes Father go. And listen to some lecture course. Then everyone sits way, way back, Excepting Jimmy, me and Jack.

At lectures people always stay way, way, way back, right near the door. Where they can't hear what speakers say. And speakers can't hear people snore. And parents don't object a bit. When we go down in front to sit.

So just remember, lecture man, That we don't do like old folks do. But get as near you as we can. And that's a compliment to you. But other folks, like Ma and Dad, I guess must think you're pretty bad. (© 1928, Douglas Malloch.)

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

TO CURE ASTHMA

IF YOU have asthma save all the parings of four finger nails and toenails for a year. At the end of that time find an ash tree of the same age as yourself, bore a hole in it, put in the parings and plug up the hole. Recovery follows. That is the way they do it in one part of the country. The recipe is somewhat different in other sections. For instance in one section it is as follows: Stand the patient with his back to a sugar-maple tree, bore a hole in the trunk, insert a lock of the patient's hair, fasten it in with a plug and then cut off the hair. This cure is similar in principle to many which are found in folk-lore medicine in this country—and, in fact, all over the world—which are compounded of free-worship and the magic of disease transference. The extent to which folk-medicine is practiced in this country is shown by the fact that a publication of the American Folk-Lore society mentions nearly three hundred different magical cures for various diseases which are in use here—and these are only a few of the many—a few which have come under the notice of its investigator. And yet there is a high school in every town and a doctor or two in every country village.

Wearing our veneer of civilization we practice folk-medicine as assiduously as the Australian aborigine does, or as did our forefathers of the Stone age. As to the asthma cure the hair and the nails in primitive belief—as well as in that of classic times—partake of the very "essence" of the man himself—are a part of his spiritual and physical "ego." To place them in a tree places a man's disease there also and gives a facility for its transference to the said tree. Again the hair and the nails were always considered as acceptable offerings to the gods—a substitute for the man himself—and so the ritual of the asthma cure is an offering to the tree, a sacrifice for his beneficent intervention. The New England ritual is apparently the more orthodox of the two given for in it the ash tree is specified and the ash was the mystic tree of the Norse mythology—the sacred Isdragil from which the human race is descended.

Fire Destroys Eastman Films

Party Men Narrow Escape When Overlooked No Line Train Marries Into Flaming—Most of Passengers Among Train American Tourists.

Cairo, Egypt, March 14 (AP)—George Eastman, camera manufacturer of Rochester, N. Y., and the Eastman hunting party enroute home from the heart of Africa, were among passengers of a crowded de luxe train who narrowly escaped when fire swept two coaches including their Pullman.

All the films which Eastman had made on his trip were destroyed, adding to the fury of the flames, which threatened the car's occupants. Eastman himself just escaped in his pajamas and members of his party similarly lost everything. When the camera manufacturer left the Cairo station this morning for Alexandria, his face was grim.

On his arrival in Cairo aboard the train, which had come from Luxor, Eastman was wearing a cap, a blue pajama coat, trousers which apparently had been borrowed, and slippers. The other members of his party were similarly attired, although some of them had been able to get into borrowed suits. All looked shaken and hurriedly departed in order to catch the delayed de luxe special for Alexandria to catch the White Star liner Doric.

Most of the passengers on the train were American tourists. The train was crowded and temporary coaches were placed in an ordinary first class carriage. It was here that the fire originated and then spread rapidly to the adjoining sleeper in which the Eastman party was traveling. The engine of the train stopped it and this enabled the passengers to beat a hasty retreat in their sleeping garments through the windows.

An American woman passenger said that the flames enveloped the corridor when the alarm was given and that the windows offered the only exit. The train was on a fairly steep embankment and the passengers bundled one another through the windows. In their precipitate flight some of them cut hands, barked shins, sprained ankles and bruised themselves, but these were the only mishaps recorded.

So short was the warning given of the flames that there was not time to save anything or to don suitable garments. Baggage and valuables were abandoned, a prey to the flames, and everything was destroyed in the two coaches. The losses are believed considerable.

Charles Prescott, British artist, who had been accommodated in the first class coach, told of being awakened by smoke, opening his door and finding flames raging outside. He said that he had some fearful moments in trying to pull down his window shutter and finally dived through the window in his pajamas.

Boldest of Birds

There is no bird perhaps so inquisitive, so familiar, so "cheeky" as the robin, and so it is not surprising that this bird should so often choose some discarded article of domestic use as a suitable receptacle, after sundry modifications, for its eggs and subsequent family. Next to the robin in point of boldness and familiarity with man comes the wren, but the pair who were so far self-possessed as to convert a scarecrow into a desirable residence were gifted with more than ordinary daring. Possibly they knew that the old coat was not hung there over the row of newly-sown peas to scare away such respectable individuals as themselves, or perhaps they did not recognize the apparition as what it was intended to represent.

Dramatic Criticism

To the duke of York's house to see the new play called "The Man in the Master"; where the house was, it being not one o'clock, very full. By and by the king came; and we sat just under him, so that I durst not turn my back all the play. The most of the mirth was sorry, poor stuff, of eating of such power and slobbering themselves, and mirth fit for clowns; the prologue but poor, and the epilogue little in it, but the extraordinariness of it, it being sung by Harris and another in the form of the ballet. My wife extraordinary fine today in her flower tatty suit, bought a year or more ago.—Samuel Pepys.

Should Have Been Tanned

"Her smile was so irresistible," said a resourceful husband in speaking of "the other woman" in a recent divorce suit, "that I couldn't stay away from her." He booted in the sunshine of her smile until he got sunburnt.—Farm and Fireside.

WIRE TO HOUSTON

Will cost $487,000

Telephone and telegraph companies will spend nearly $500,000 for expansion of facilities to take care of the demand for service during the Democratic national convention in June.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company will provide new outlets for communication, which until Houston was selected for the convention it had not planned to install for several years. Fifteen carloads of copper wire have been ordered for use in building circuits to Beaumont, Dallas, Shreveport, La., and San Antonio. From Shreveport there will be three new circuits to carry the large stream of messages eastward as far as Birmingham and Atlanta.

Cost of these improvements is estimated at $200,000. The telephone company also will set up radio circuits for the broadcasting of convention proceedings. It will install 130 telephone booths in the convention hall. Twenty booths will be reserved for the official business of the convention.

The Western Union Telegraph Company estimates an expenditure of $187,000 in preparation for the political gathering, while the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company anticipates an outlay of $50,000. The Western Union hopes to lease the wires of oil companies and other private concerns and the Postal plans to increase the message capacity of its present wires.

ULSTER COUNTY GUN CLUB TO HOLD SHOOT

The first shoot of the newly formed Ulster County Gun Club will be held at the grounds in the rear of the driving park on March 24. Prizes will be awarded in four classes the 50, 25, 15 and 10. Shells and pigeons will be supplied at the trap house and all the public needs to bring along is a gun. The shoot will commence at 2 o'clock.
